

2023 YEAR-TO-DATE IMPACT REPORT

Brent's Place will provide families:

Access to life-saving treatments

A secure, Safe-Clean, reliable housing environment during medical treatment

Reduced financial burdens and stress

Improved family resilience

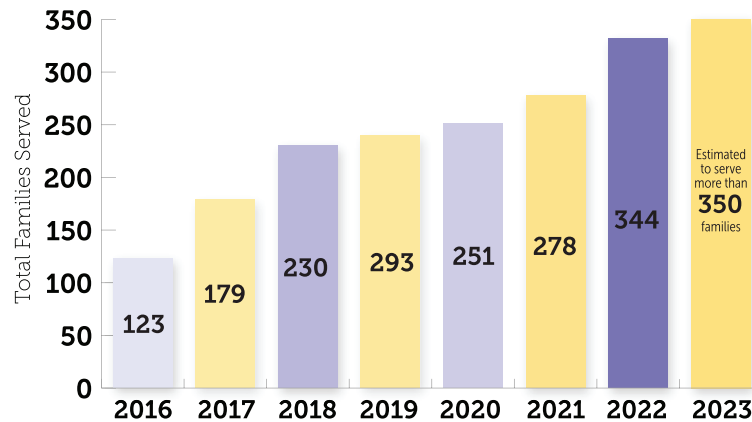

Increased feelings of physical and emotional safety

What an Amazing Year

This year has been all about momentum. Momentum with the number of families we serve, powered by your community support that makes it possible.

In 2023, Brent's Place anticipates serving more than 350 unique families over the course of 700+ visits - the greatest number of families in our 26-year history.

You believe, as we do, that everyone should have access to the best treatment possible and a high quality of life - even during medical hardship. We thank you for supporting these shared values.

With the increasing number of families temporarily relocating to the Denver area in the midst of a medical crisis - we remain laser focused on providing them comfort, safety, solace, and most importantly, hope.

Deepening Our Impact

While we continue our regular programming that makes Brent's Place a home away from home - from meal support to arts and crafts to birthday and holiday celebrations - our Family Support team is going above and beyond to deepen the impact we have on each and every resident.

21,000+
Program Participants
estimated for 2023

To maintain a sense of normalcy for residents, our team goes great lengths to spark joy, Halloween is no exception!

Special programming tailored to pediatric and adult patients this year has included:

Dave the Zookeeper

brought zoo artifacts and virtual reality headsets for families to experience animals in their natural habitats.

VOLO Sports, Saunders Construction, and Medals4Mettle joined us in our courtyard to host a soccer day for our pediatric families.

Disney Immersive Experience

provided a one-of-a-kind private experience that took our pediatric families inside the magic of Disney Animation.

Denver Museum of Nature and Science offered private behind the scenes tours of the Anthropology, Archives, and Earth Sciences collections.

These experiences, along with many others, build community among our resident families, providing moments of joy and much needed respite from the overwhelming stress of facing a life-threatening illness.

Our team provides additional customized services to meet each family's unique and often complex needs. While some families need help paying for medical equipment or struggle with food security, others might benefit from job training or help with relocation.

Provide Hope Today

As the sole facility offering Safe-Clean housing for patients and their families alongside wrap-around support programming, we remain committed to organizational growth and refinement.

This holiday season, when you support our Hope Lives Here campaign, you are giving the gift of home, hope and healing to every family that walks through our doors.

Whether you are a donor, volunteer, hospital or community partner, we send heartfelt thanks for being part of this truly special mission.

“The services Brent’s Place provided not only helped me financially and emotionally but, more importantly, significantly increased my daughter’s chance of recovery by providing relief and a safe comfortable environment for her while she went through treatment.”
